

Hampshire's finest represented in Scotland

Three of Hampshire's most acclaimed artists are exhibiting their paintings in Scotland this April.

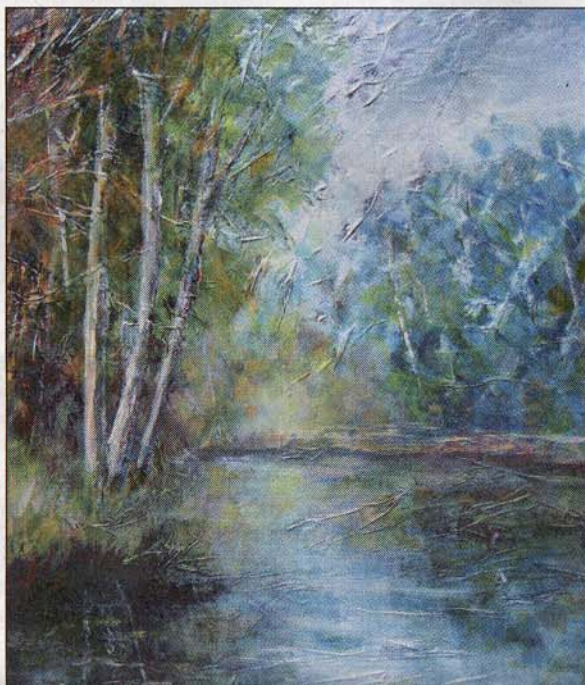

Lynne Davies from Denmead, Ali Lindley from Chandlers Ford and Viv Verey from Romsey have been selected to show their work at The EDS Gallery in Edinburgh. This is the result of a collaboration between the gallery and Creative Coverage, the Hampshire based organisation that represents the marketing needs of professional artists. Every month 10 Creative Coverage artists from all over Great Britain will be selected to show 10 paintings each at the gallery. The first exhibition runs from April 12 to May 12, 2014. Each exhibition will run for a month.

"I am so excited about this," says Fiona McCrindle, who previously ran Morningside Gallery in Edinburgh. "I really appreciate the high quality work that Creative Coverage members produce and this will help me introduce art lovers in Scotland to the work of some fabulous painters from across the United Kingdom." Co-founder of Creative Coverage

Tim Saunders adds: "I am thrilled to be working with Fiona, who has wholeheartedly embraced the concept of Creative Coverage and fully appreciates how we can help introduce her to some of the UK's finest artists."

The first exhibition in April will also feature the work of: John Atkinson from Norfolk, Anthony Barber from the Isle of Lewis, Nagib Karsan from Surrey, Jonathan Mitchell from Angus, Justine Osborne from Gloucestershire, Sylvia Paul from Essex and Michael Sofroniou from Warwickshire.
