

Susie Lidstone work on show up until May 8

LOCAL Architecture in Water-colour & Print is the latest exhibition by Farnham artist Susie Lidstone, showcasing her work in the Assembly Room at the Guildford Institute in Ward Street until Friday May 8.

Goats Head Passageway – one of the Susie Lidstone works being shown at the Guildford Institute.

The exhibition features highly detailed paintings and limited edition prints of local architecture and buildings with descriptions on the background for each piece of artwork on show.

She has just finished a commission of The Mulberry Pub in Farnham that needed to be completed in 12 days.

Susie's artistic career spans more than 30 years, and she is a full-time member of The Society of Floral Painters and of The Society of Architectural Illustration.

One of her latest projects is a new range of cards that are available via The Dandy House's Earn & Give scheme, which helps support Susie's chosen charity, the COB Foundation.

The foundation provides support and advice regarding cystitis and overactive bladder syndrome.

Susie is looking forward to the show and plans to be painting during opening hours.
